

PEUGEOT IN THE NEWS

THE WEEK THAT WAS

Welcome,

It's been an exciting fortnight with the unveiling of the next-generation Peugeot 3008 and also the L500 R, 500hp, hybrid concept.

We trust you'll enjoy the sample of just some of the coverage generated this past fortnight.

Regards,

The Marketing Team

THE REVEAL OF PEUGEOT 3008

CarAdvice reports a comprehensive review on the reveal of the new-generation Peugeot 3008.

QUOTE: "As a telling leaked image revealed earlier today, the new 3008 boasts conventional SUV proportions, while showcasing the latest step in the French car maker's evolving design language."

To view the story click here.

PEUGEOT 205 GTi vs 208 GTi

Motormag compares Peugeot 208 GTi 30th Anniversary to its ancestor released in 1984, the Peugeot 205 GTi.

QUOTE: "The new Peugeot is so much faster. Corners approached in the top of second in the 205 GTi run deep into third in the newer car. The sheer sensation of speed in the 208 GTi 30th Anniversary quickly rips the rose-tint off 80s glasses and the Rocky Horror Picture Show album from the cassette deck."

To read the full article click here.

THE HOT FRENCH GTi

CarsGuide road tests the 308 GTi 250hp and assesses its drive, engine, design, and features. Results are splendid.

QUOTE: "The Peugeot is powered by a responsive turbo-petrol engine that drives through well-controlled front wheels, and chassis dynamics that sit with the best of them."

To read the full article click here.

308 GTi 270

Appearing in independent community newspaper is a review on the 308 GTi 270hp.

QUOTE: "While 308 GTi 270 owners would need a track to fully exploit the Peugeot's talents, seeking out a few twisty roads also delivers thrills. There's a Sport button you see, and it's rather transforming, plus the dash dials turn red when you press it, which raises a smile."

The GTi 270 combines that eager engine with a Torsen limited-slip diff and super grippy 19-inch Michelin Pilot Super Sport tyres."

To read the full article click here.

AROUND THE WEB

A selection of other news from online and around the traps..

- Peugeot concept car – 1000kg futuristic race car.
- PSA announces hybrid, EV platform.
- 'e-Kick' scooter as an accessory for 2017 3008.
- Motormag– 308 R Hybrid review.

DID YOU KNOW? This month marks the 100th Anniversary of Peugeot winning the Indianapolis 500. And to celebrate Peugeot unveiled the L500 R concept.